What does Property Rights Australia do?

- 1) An organisation communicating awareness of the latest issues affecting landowners without bias of land use, property size or location.
- 2) Provide a support network to PRA members for important property rights matters.
- 3) Endeavour to improve government policies and natural resource management decisions, so that they are based on sound science and responsible economic management.
- 4) Provide support through the Property Rights Australia Fighting Fund for legal test cases and matters of significance to protect and enhance property rights.
- 5) Strives for ecological and economical sustainable natural resource management.
- 6) Hold government and government officers accountable for actions that affect property rights.
- 7) Monitor market transformation activism and campaigns by certain non-government organisations NGOs that can impact on property rights.

PRA was formed in 2003 to protect rural property rights of landowners adversely affected by the actions of government, private companies and others who negatively impact on their properties and their right to do business.

PRA is an apolitical, not-for-profit organisation.
